This is Holy Week, the most solemn time of the Church's year.
In our liturgy this week we celebrate the events which begin with Jesus' triumphant entry into Jerusalem and end with His crucifixion, death and burial. But at the end of the week we wait in hope and expectation at the garden tomb for His glorious Resurrection to new life.

One of our young parishioners wrote this poem for Good Friday.

We saw him suffer, Jesus Christ.
He lay there on the cross,
while we taunted and jeered at Him,
thinking nothing about what He had done for us,
only what we wanted, not what He did.

With the sixth hour came darkness,
with the ninth hour came death
And as He died and breathed His last
He saved us from death and brought us
Life
